Turns 72

That Social Security fund I have been contributing to since the Year One began coming back to me Thursday, Aug. 12, when I turned 72. At that age you get a monthly SS check even though still working on a private business payroll.

The birthday found me on the road returning from a four-day holiday with the C. M. Rogers, Jr. family, in Houston, Austin, and Galveston. The Rogers family left Hope early last Sunday, but I was detained at the office, catching a plane at Texarkana Monday afternoon and being met at the Austin airport by Pod Rogers and the car.

We were entertained at Austin Monday night by Jack Ray, old Hope boy, who has made a fortune in Austin's finest restaurant, The Barn, and who some years ago invested part of his profits in a section of land on the outskirts of Austin where he raises deer and cattle and is building a residence overlooking a canyon.

A far cry from the poor-boy days when Jack and his father, Leo Ray, of Hope, ran the old Ramwood company manufacturing water skis in Hope. Jack missed on that one—then went on to make a towering success in the Texas state capital.

Pod Rogers and his youngest son, Bradford, and your editor went from Austin to Galveston to spend Tuesday afternoon and night, then returned to Austin, where Jack Ray tendered me a pre-birthday party Wednesday night and we made photographs of The Barn and its fine staff. If the pictures turn out well The Star will present them in a page layout, a tribute to a hometown boy who has made it big in Texas.

It rained as we drove in from Dallas Thursday evening, the rain beginning between Fulton and Hope. Otherwise our trip was blessed with fair weather.

Policeman
Accused of Beating

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Dallas man has accused an off-duty Little Rock policeman of using undue force while making an arrest Saturday night at a Little Rock motel.

James Myers, 20, said that patrolman Michael Carter, who was employed as a security guard during off-duty hours at the motel, opened the door to Myers' room and asked Myers and five companions to be quiet.

According to testimony in municipal court, Carter then told the men they were under arrest. During an ensuing scuffle, Myers said he sustained a broken nose, possible fractured collarbone, skull fracture and a concussion.

John F. Gibson Jr. of Dermott, Myers' attorney, said he would meet with officials of the Little Rock Police Department next week to seek "proper administrative action" against Carter.

Calls Welfare
Story a Myth

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Former state Welfare Commissioner Len E. Blaylock said Thursday that it was a myth that there were large numbers of "cheaters" on the welfare rolls in Arkansas.

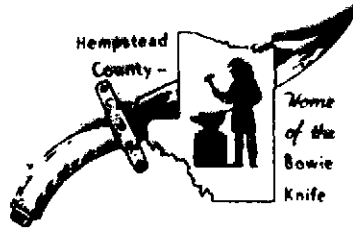

Blaylock said that only four welfare recipients out of 1,000 were cheating or lying in order to stay on welfare and only 5 per cent could work if a job were available.

More Bases Shelled by the Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—The North Vietnamese shelled two more South Vietnamese bases just below the demilitarized zone today in the second successive day of intensified action along the northern frontier.

U.S. B52 bombers countered with their heaviest strikes in more than two weeks in the region in an effort to keep the enemy from massing for a major offensive.

North Vietnamese gunners slammed 150 mortar and rocket shells into Alpha 1 and Alpha 2, bases at the eastern end of the DMZ.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, spokesman for the South Vietnamese command, said some government soldiers were wounded but none was killed in the pre-dawn shelling. He said he did not know what damage was done. South Vietnamese tanks are based at Alpha 2, a half mile south of the DMZ.

Hien also said he didn't know the locations of the enemy launching sites. The 82mm mortar and 107mm rockets used in the attacks could reach the two bases from positions inside the six-mile-wide buffer zone.

The attacks along the DMZ began Thursday, breaking a lull in the war.

Sept. 21, Seen as Magic Date for Turnabout in Anti-inflation Policy

By STERLING F. GREEN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is widening belief in the administration that September 21 is the magic date for a turnabout in President Nixon's anti-inflation policy.

On that day Nixon will discuss with his 18-member National Commission on Productivity a recommendation for creating some form of wage-price review board—or perhaps separate boards for basic segments of industry.

The meeting was mentioned by Nixon at his Aug. 4 news conference. He emphasized he would reject any wage-price control proposal that would invite "a new bureaucracy with enormous criminal powers to fasten itself on the American economy." He said he had never seen a control plan without that flaw.

But Nixon still left open the way to adoption of a purely voluntary program for reviewing pending major wage settlements and price decisions. Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns has been plugging for such an "incomes policy" for months.

The commission will look at Recent contributions by the Republican and Democratic parties have made "18-21" possible in Hempstead County. "18-21" is a state-wide organization whose sole purpose is to encourage the registration of newly enfranchised voters in Arkansas. The week of August 16-20th has been designated as a period of concentrated efforts at this task. There are approximately 104,000 eligible 18-21 year olds in Arkansas with an estimated 750 in Hempstead County.

Mrs. Pat House, Hempstead County Clerk, is in charge of all voter registration. This must be done in person at the Courthouse. U.S. Dollar Plunges to a Record Low on Europe's Money Market

By PETER MUCCINI

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—The dollar continued its plunge on the European money markets today reaching a record low in West Germany where the American currency came under its greatest pressure.

Dealers reported the dollar was being hit by preweekend nervousness that usually accompanies a monetary crisis.

Another factor creating uncertainty in Europe was the Wall Street Journal's poll of leading American businessmen indicating a possible devaluation of the American currency, financial sources said.

In Frankfurt trading in the dollar opened at 3.3837 marks from Thursday's closing of 3.3850 marks, after a half hour, it had dropped to a record low of 3.3740 marks, and slipped even further in the next half hour to 3.3715 marks.

In London the dollar stood at 2.4197 to the pound sterling compared with $2.4194 at Thursday night's close. The rate was almost touching the pound's ceiling of $2.42 and the Bank of England was reported prepared to make further massive purchases of dollars to shore up the ailing American currency.

Financial sources estimated that the bank bought in about $250 million on Wednesday when large-scale support for the dollar became urgent in London.

Dealers reported many inquiries from speculators on the London market but relatively little business was done be-

Scientist Is

Space Flight

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The space agency ended a months-long controversy today and named Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt as the first scientist-astronaut selected for an American space crew.

Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist, will fly on Apollo 17, last of the moon-lansing missions in the Apollo program. Commanding the flight will be Navy Capt. Eugene A. Cernon, veteran of two space trips. Rounding out the crew will be Ronald E. Evans, a Navy lieutenant commander who has not flown in space.

Cernon and Schmitt will land on the moon, while Evans mans the command ship in lunar orbit.

Named backups for the mission were the astronauts who last week completed the historic Apollo 15 flight—Col. David R. Scott, Lt. Col. James B. Irwin and Maj. Alfred M. Word.

Nixon Urged to Defy
Busing Law; Wallace
to Open Black Schools

By REX THOMAS

Associated Press Writer

TROY, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace, challenging President Nixon and the federal courts, today ordered the reopening under a freedom-of-choice plan of a black school closed two weeks ago by a federal court to speed integration.

Wallace issued an executive order directing the Limestone County school board to open the New Hope Junior High School and allow residents of the predominantly Negro community to choose the county school their children will attend this fall.

The New Hope School, established in the early 1920s, had only black pupils for many years. At the end of the 1970-71 school year, there were 184 Negro and 5 white children in the WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Civil Rights Commission says school-desegregation efforts may be seriously undermined by President Nixon's policy that busing should be used only as a last resort.

Raps Nixon's

"What the nation needed was a call to duty and responsibility for the immediate elimination of the dual school system, and for support of all those school officials who are forthrightly carrying out their legal obligations," said the commission, headed by the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame.

President Nixon this week directed federal agencies to work toward desegregation wherever possible without resort to busing.

"Unfortunately, the President's statement almost certainly will have the effect of undermining the desegregation effort," the commission said.

"The President does not offer an alternative to implement the desegregation of the nation's schools. Had he presented an effective alternative, the statement would have found acceptance among those who have waited 17 years after the Supreme Court decision (on school desegregation) to see the law of the land implemented."

The commission said effects of Nixon's Aug. 3 antibusing statement on the Austin, Tex., school desegregation effort.

25 Dead, Tide
of Ireland
Violence Ebbs

By COLIN FROST

Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Thetide of violence in Northern Ireland ebbed today after four days of rioting, shooting and firebombing that has left 25 dead and hundreds injured.

Despite the lull, which appeared to be a recess of exhaustion by British troops and the Irish Republican Army, more hundreds of Roman Catholics fled south to the Irish Republic.

Slowly as the day brought no fresh outbursts of violence, the 412,000 residents of Belfast began filling the stores and the offices, to work and to shop in almost normal fashion.

Wholesale trucks once more ventured on their rounds. Slowly they conquered the food shortages of the week. Belfast, except in the burned out trouble areas, began to look almost normal.

In Belfast, Londonderry and Norway, all centers of religious and IRA fury since last weekend, the snipers and the bombers went underground.

One blast marred the peace—an explosion that damaged a Northern Ireland government building near Castleberg.

Police, freed of fires and snipers, moved to stem the flow of refugees, the thousands of Roman Catholics and Protestants who fled their homes this week in fear. Police said they would deal harshly with any cases where militants intimidate residents.

Still the Catholics fled to the Irish Republic and the Protestants to friends in the quietest parts of Belfast, to Liverpool across the Irish Sea and to other English cities.

Brig. Marston Tickell, army chief of staff in Northern Ireland, hailed the fragile armistice as an outright defeat of gunmen of the outlawed IRA at least, in part the result of the provincial internment-without-trial campaign.

It was this government internment order that touched off the latest round of fighting led by the IRA. It wants to unite Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic.

British troops, targets of both Catholic and Protestant snipers during the wave of violence, killed another civilian Thursday night during an ambush of a military patrol in Londonderry's Catholic Bogside district. An army spokesman said a pistol was found at the dead man's side.

Troops and roaming gunmen in Belfast exchanged shots but no casualties were reported. Four explosions occurred in the town of Newry, near the Irish border, and a frontier road-block at Aghnacloy, County Tyrone, was peppered by a dozen shots from the Irish side of the border.

In Dublin, capital of the Irish Republic, Prime Minister Jack Lynch called for replacement of Northern Ireland's all-Protestant government by an administration giving equal voice to the province's Catholic minority and Protestant majority.

Also subpoenaed was Mrs. Doris Cook, Arkansas County Welfare director.

Chute Failure Linked to Propellant

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — An acid-like rocket propellant which "eats through nylon like crazy" may have been responsible for the collapse of one of Apollo 15's parachutes, a space agency source says.

All of Apollo 15's three parachutes opened properly, but one collapsed while the spacecraft was drifting toward splashdown over the Pacific Ocean north of Hawaii last Saturday.

The collapse of the chute caused man's fourth moon mission to return to earth about two miles an hour faster than usual but created no difficulties for the astronauts other than a jolting splashdown.

A space center source said Thursday the parachute apparently collapsed after fuel and oxidizer from the small rocket thruster system was jettisoned. "The oxidizer in this system is highly corrosive," said an official familiar with the problem. "It can eat through nylon like crazy."

The parachute panels and its shroud lines are made of nylon. Astronaut Alfred M. Worden indicated the cause of the collapse could be the rocket propellant. During a news conference Thursday with his Apollo 15 crewmates, David R. Scott and James B. Irwin, Worden described the parachute problem this way:

"We saw through the window that all three chutes were out. We have a requirement to dump excess fuel on board. We did and when the window cleared again, we saw one chute had collapsed. There's a possibility the fuel had something to do with it."

Had one more parachute collapsed the spacecraft more than likely would have been crushed by impact when it hit the water, a space agency official said.

The Apollo 15 astronauts spent most of Thursday in continued debriefings on their 12-day moon mission. Scott and Irwin broke away long enough to go to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory to see a very special moon rock, a fist-sized fragment of white crystal which Scott and Irwin had described as possibly part of the original lunar crust. Called "the Genesis rock," it was among the approximately 180 pounds of moon rock brought to earth by Apollo 15.

Geologists said the rock appears to be almost pure plagioclase, a type of rock crystal formed from a molten material.

Dr. Paul Gast, chief of the space center's earth and planetary sciences branch, said that if the rock is dated at 4.6 billion to 4.7 billion years then it will be "a big step" toward supporting a theory that the moon was once completely melted. Dating of the rock is expected to take some weeks, Gast said.

The trade winds blow from the southeast and the northeast.

Battle Deaths Are Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 66 American battle deaths in Vietnam in July was the lowest monthly total in over six years, the Defense Department says.

The next lowest figure was 32 killed in May, 1965, Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedham said Thursday.

Friedham said casualties would keep dropping as troop withdrawals continue.

The highest number of American losses came in May, 1968, when 2,169 GIs were killed.

Texas Speaker Named in Big Lawsuit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. has filed a $32,008 suit against Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher in connection with the liquidation of the defunct Sharpstown State Bank. It was the second suit filed by the FDIC in as many days. A $170,000 suit was filed Wednesday against professional golfer Doug Sanders.

The suit Thursday against Mutscher alleges the Speaker owes $32,008 on a $340,000 loan from the bank, for which he pledged 17,000 shares of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock as collateral.

Including penalty, interest and collection fees, the amount the FDIC is seeking from Mutscher could exceed $400,000.

Mutscher was testifying before a federal grand jury where when the FDIC filed the state court action. The grand jury is investigating the collapse of the financial empire of Frank W. Sharp.

Mutscher, Sanders and a number of state officials were named in SEC documents filed in Dallas as having purchased National Bankers Life stock, in most cases with money borrowed from the Sharpstown bank. None was named as a defendant in the SEC action.

The FDIC took over the Sharp-controlled bank after Sharp, the bank and the Sharp-controlled National Bankers Life Insurance Co. were among the 28 defendants named in a Jan. 18 civil injunction suit filed in Dallas by the Securities and Exchange Commission alleging stock manipulation.

Mutscher said after testifying before the grand jury that the suit against him "reflects that I have lost a substantial amount of money investing in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock."

The state action against Mutscher claims the Speaker borrowed $340,000 from the bank prior to Oct. 7, 1970, on which date he was reported to have renewed the loan and pledged the 17,000 shares of stock as collateral.

The suit alleges Mutscher has made no payments on the loan since making payments on Nov. 16, 1970, of $7,992 on the principal and $437 on the interest.

The FDIC also is seeking 8 1/2 per cent interest to the maturity date of last Jan. 5, 10 per cent interest until the loan is paid, and 10 per cent of the total principal and interest as collection fees.

Mutscher has acknowledged he made a profit on an initial transaction involving the insurance company stock but has said he later lost $250,000 on another transaction.

Wallace ordered the school board to reinstitute the attendance zone plan in effect last school year which permitted pupils in the New Hope community to attend that school or any other of their choice in the county. He directed the board to provide transportation for those who elect to attend other schools.

Acknowledging that his action will create an "economic burden" for the board, the governor said the state will contribute $30,000 "to help in renovating the New Hope School to provide adequate classrooms for all students in the New Hope community who desire to attend New Hope School."

Wallace said that under a federal court order handed down July 30, New Hope pupils were assigned to Tanner and East Limestone schools 20 to 22 miles away. Bus transportation to Tanner and East Limestone is dangerous, he said, because the route is heavily traveled, "bumper to bumper" at times.

New Hope is one of more than 140 Negro schools in Alabama closed by a three-judge federal court as part of a stepped-up integration formula. Their pupils were reassigned to predominantly white schools.

Wallace said one of the reasons he singled out the Limestone County school in northwest Alabama as the first to reopen is that more than 100 black parents petitioned him to intervene.

The governor had said earlier he would order the reopening of an undisclosed number of the schools under the freedom of Temperatures are not forecast to change much through the weekend with afternoon highs ranging in the low 80s to low 90s. Lows tonight are predicted to be in the mid 60s to low 70s.

The weak cool front that extended east to west across the southern portion of the state Thursday morning dissipated late Thursday afternoon.

Sex Change Not the Only Problem

By JOE DI LEO
Associated Press Writer
BERNARDS TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — A music teacher who underwent a sex change operation has rejected a school board offer allowing her to continue teaching if she gave up the 14 years tenure she earned as a man.

The school board made its compromise offer at an open meeting Thursday but Paula Miriam Grossman, 52, turned it down saying she will fight to keep her job and full privileges. "I don't think their request was fair. But I expected it," Mrs. Grossman said.

Under the offer, Mrs. Grossman could have resumed teaching in September if she agreed to resign and to obtain a state teaching certificate in her female name. The board also wanted her to agree to switch from elementary to high school teaching.

Until last March, Mrs. Grossman was Paul Monroe Grossman, a music teacher at Cedar Hill Elementary School with a wife and three daughters.

After sex reassignment surgery in March, she returned to the classroom dressed as man. In May, Mrs. Grossman told School Supt. Myron Headington of the sex change, and he notified the school board on June 1. The board met privately with Mrs. Grossman and her attorney, Herbert Kostner.

At the board's request, Mrs. Grossman submitted to two psychiatric examinations. The results were not made public by the board but Kostner said that Mrs. Grossman "passed with flying colors."

Despite controversy that has ensued in this affluent hill community 30 miles from New York City, Mrs. Grossman says she wants to keep her job and will continue to live with her wife of 19 years and their three children.

The board intends to ask the state Board of Education to remove Mrs. Grossman's tenure on grounds she is incompetent, which is the only basis on which such an action can be taken against a teacher.

Nixon said at that time that he favors no more busing than required by law.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, meanwhile, announced in Montgomery he was ordering the transfer of a white student who had been assigned to a predominantly black school 22 miles from her home.

He said he was trying to "help the President carry out his wishes." Wallace asked Nixon to join him in ignoring court orders for desegregation "if he is against busing, as he says he is."

The commission said busing has become an emotion-laden word—meaning more than just a mode of transportation.

"What is at issue in this matter," it said, "is not—to use the President's phrases—busing for the sake of busing or even busing solely for racial balance. The major issue is the kind of education available at the end of the trip."

"Why did your draft board send you here in the first place? You don't belong in the Army—you belong in a hospital bed."

"My wife took quite a fancy to you at the annual office dance, Timpkins. She'd like you to join us at dinner next Friday and meet our daughter, the one who was just made beauty queen at Yale. All right? Fine. After dinner you two kids can have the chauffeur and limousine for the evening. The chauffeur is off duty at midnight—but the limousine isn't."

Officer Fired in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Chief of Police Gale Weeks said Thursday he had relieved Lt. Robert C. Laird of duty.

Laird was the shift commander Monday when two burglary suspects were beaten outside a restaurant on Cantrell Road in Little Rock. The two suspects had charged that undue force was used in their arrest.

Weeks pointed out that Laird had not been fired or suspended but relieved of duty pending completion of an investigation of the incident.

The naming of Schmitt was a victory for the space agency scientific community, which has long contended that NASA has given preference to long-time jet pilots in selecting space crews.

Sources reported the names of the Apollo 17 crew to The Associated Press Thursday, and a space agency spokesman later confirmed they would be announced formally today.

The landing site will be selected after experts have studied photographs and data returned from the recent Apollo 15 journey.

The Apollo 16 crew, named previously, consists of Navy Cmdr. John W. Young, Air Force Maj. Charles M. Duke Jr. and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Thomas K. Mattingly. Young and Duke are to explore near the crater Descartes in the moon's central highlands.

Apollo 16 is scheduled next March and Apollo 17 in December 1972.

They have said the last Apollo flight would be a natural for Schmitt, after experts have analyzed the data from all the earlier landings.

LONDON (AP) — The state-owned British Broadcasting Corp. has caused a minor stir by distributing pictures of Princess Anne in a bathing suit.

Taken by BBC television cameramen, the pictures were issued Thursday as illustrations for reviews of a BBC booklet on the princess' safari in East Africa earlier this year.

One shows Anne walking with a companion along an Indian Ocean beach in Kenya, wearing a one-piece bathing suit. The photo is of the type the royal family has always barred photographers from taking.

Some sources said the royal family had permitted the pictures to be taken and published on assurances proceeds from sale of the 72-cent booklet would aid the Save the Children Fund, but the Daily Mirror said the princess was being used.

"Extraordinarily, any cash benefits ... go to the BBC, not to the charity. Right or wrong, the fund takes second place," the Daily Mirror said.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was a rehearsal break for the cast of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." The sun was scorching the cement and stucco of CBS's San Fernando Valley studios but Stage One was cool and cozy, like a family gathering on a school night.

Mary Tyler Moore, the star, was working on a needlepoint bell-pull, listening attentively as Valerie Harper and Cloris Leachman, who play her apartment house neighbors, cued each other in their lines.

A few yards away, Edward Asner, who plays Mary's terrible-tempered boss in the comedy series, was having a frantic telephone conversation with his wife. He had sent—or thought he had sent—some papers to his business manager, and the envelope had arrived empty.

"I seem to forget everything but the show," he said, hitting his forehead with the palm of his hand. "Yesterday morning I turned on the water sprinklers and forgot them until nighttime. I'm just lucky the house and the lawn didn't roll away down the hill."

In television, nothing is as euphoric as returning for a second season as a hit and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" has really struck it rich. It marched off with Emmy awards to both Asner and Miss Harper and to the writer-producers. Everybody concerned is happy and proud to be part of a team. And actors are not noted as good team players.

"We feel solid this year," Asner reported. "But that old devil is still on our heels: We've got to be better this year than last. Everybody works like fury and nobody complains."

There is still consternation—even embarrassment—that Mary missed an Emmy although she was a nominee. The cast took a big ad in a trade paper after the awards were made stating that without Mary Tyler Moore, it would have been just "The Show."

The series is shot after four days of rehearsal like a stage play, with an audience in the bleachers on the stage and three cameras recording the action.

"It's beautiful for an actor," said Asner, a veteran of stage and films. "The only drawback to the technique is that you are locked into three sets—you can't do location shooting. But if the comedy is right, you really don't need the extras."

Q. How do you determine quarters of coverage?

A. A quarter of coverage is a calendar quarter in which you receive wages amounting to $50 or more for work, (except agricultural labor). Since self-employed persons report their earnings only once a year, they receive credit for four quarters of coverage for each year they have net earnings of $400 or more. A farm worker also receives credit for four quarters of coverage for each year in which he receives wages of $400 or more for his farm or ranch work.

Q. Well, how many quarters of coverage must one have to be fully insured?

A. The number varies from six to 40. It depends on the date of birth or age of the worker. Count the years after 1950 or after age 21, if later, to the earlier of the year of death or attainment of the retirement age (62 for women, 65 for men). That is the number of quarters of coverage needed to be fully insured. For example, for a man reaching age 65 this year, 19 years have

Q. As used in the Social Security Act, what does "fully insured" mean?

A. Generally, a worker must be fully insured before retirement, disability, or survivors insurance can be paid. The term "quarters of coverage" is used to measure the length of time for which one has received credit for work under social security. Quarters of coverage then determine when a worker is fully insured.

VACCINATION in any language comes out OUCH! Pained expressions of three young men in Alicante, Spain, pretty much express the universal reaction to the experience. Widespread vaccination programs in Spain and for tourists visiting the country followed an outbreak of cholera in the northern city of Zaragoza.

A. A quarter of coverage is a calendar quarter in which you receive wages amounting to $50 or more for work, (except agricultural labor). Since self-employed persons report their earnings only once a year, they receive credit for four quarters of coverage for each year they have net earnings of $400 or more. A farm worker also receives credit for four quarters of coverage for each year in which he receives wages of $400 or more for his farm or ranch work.

Q. Well, how many quarters of coverage must one have to be fully insured?

A. The number varies from six to 40. It depends on the date of birth or age of the worker. Count the years after 1950 or after age 21, if later, to the earlier of the year of death or attainment of the retirement age (62 for women, 65 for men). That is the number of quarters of coverage needed to be fully insured. For example, for a man reaching age 65 this year, 19 years have

Q. As used in the Social Security Act, what does "fully insured" mean?

A. Generally, a worker must be fully insured before retirement, disability, or survivors insurance can be paid. The term "quarters of coverage" is used to measure the length of time for which one has received credit for work under social security. Quarters of coverage then determine when a worker is fully insured.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

A MATTER OF MORALS OR REVENGE?

Dear Helen: After asking me for a divorce which I refused, my husband left to live with his lady friend. She has three children, we have two.

He insists that as long as he pays child support, he has the right to take my kids on picnics with that woman and hers. He says the kids all have fun together. But they can't help but talk. Think how this will effect mine, knowing their father is living in sin.

I say my husband can see our children ALONE, at our house and nowhere else. He won't even do that if I can prove him unfit!

I almost always agree with your comments. That's why I asked you: am I right? —LEFT WIFE

Dear Wife: You're more concerned with revenge than with morals, sez my I.G.A.P. (I'm Guessing Again Perception).

Goodbye confidence-rating—for I'll have to say: If you can't keep a man, don't hang on to him legally—and DON'T use your children as bribes or brickbats! —H.

Dear Helen:

I am just back from the hospital after having had a radical mastectomy (breast removal), due to cancer. The doctor says I can soon resume my love life, but I fear it will be terribly traumatic, for me and my husband. He's always had a thing about breasts and I know this is an awful blow to him, though he assures me it will make no difference. Will he be turned off completely? We DO love each other very much and I can't bear to hurt him. —MARRED

Dear Marred:

You two love each other. Need I say more? Surely you must know that a man who cares deeply for his wife won't be "turned off" by an operation which saved her life. Believe him! —H.

Dear Helen: Some comments to that male woman's page editor and his three-booklet experiment. He scoffingly said "it figures—women are twice as interested in getting thin as they are in putting out a good wash" (according to the number of booklets ordered). He should be pleased. This shows they're still interested in getting and keeping their men. Who ever heard of a man saying about his wife or girl friend, "Boy, she sure hangs out a nifty line of clothes!" We want to look good for our guys.

As for the booklet on women's liberation: We know we're equal, men don't. So why get that booklet? We all practice our own brand of liberation, some quietly, some stridently. I know women who would like to be liberated not from the men, but from some of their ideas. For instance: Whenever they come home, no matter how busy the wife, she must drop all her "silly endeavors" and fawn on that "Hey, here I am!" man!

The male editor is a sneaky sort—playing tricks on women in the guise of giving free "help", so he can point up her foibles. That's "using women," again.

Glove makers say that women's hands are getting bigger as men's glove sizes shrink. Why? Because women are taking over more and more of men's jobs. They're the home repair people, the painters, diggers, builders sometimes. If a man fixes something around the house, he expects high praise. Do women get it? Ha! Will the man tackle small jobs? That's "women's work." He needs a saw and at least $25 worth of lumber—and copious compliments.

I could go on and on, but I have to get the grease spots out of my husband's perma-press pants. Now there's a job to try your soul! Who invented perma-press? Some man, no doubt. Now

Ella Will Regain Vision

BOSTON (AP) — Jazz singer Ella Fitzgerald can expect to regain useful vision after cataract surgery in both eyes, say specialists at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Miss Fitzgerald, 53, is scheduled to be discharged from the infirmary today, then fly to Los Angeles to rest.

The singer entered the infirmary July 30. She broke off a European tour when she suffered eye trouble at Nice.

In Boston, she underwent an operation for removal of a cataract in her left eye. A cataract in the right eye had been removed earlier.

Baltimore 8-2 Over Minnesota

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
There is a famous philosophy credited to Satchel Paige that advises you never to look behind because someone might be gaining.
But the Baltimore Orioles, leading the American League's East Division by a comfortable eight games, might be tempted to take a peek over their shoulders anyway. There are interesting things going on back there.

For example, there is Detroit's Mickey Lolich, hidden by the Vida Blue excitement all season, but suddenly on the threshold of 20 victories for Detroit.

And then, there are the New York Yankees, enjoying the best record in the division since the All Star break with a 19-11 log that has them two games over .500 for the first time all year.

The Orioles, unconcerned by the shenanigans behind them, whipped Minnesota 8-2 Thursday night to maintain their AL East lead. Detroit took over second place with a 4-3 decision over Milwaukee—Lolich's 19th victory of the season. The Yankees made it eight victories in the last 10 games by sweeping a doubleheader from California 3-0 and 2-1 with the second game going 11 innings.

In other AL action, Oakland walloped Boston 9-2, Cleveland downed Chicago 6-2 and Kansas City split a doubleheader at Washington, winning the first game 2-0, but dropping the nightcap 2-1.

In the National League, Atlanta ripped Houston 10-5, St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 3-2, Philadelphia stopped Los Angeles 3-1 in 13 innings and San Diego turned back New York 3-0.

The Orioles jumped on Minnesota's Jim Kaat for three runs before a man was retired in the first inning and coasted over the Twins for a sweep of their three-game series.

Don Buford slammed the first pitch for a home run and Merv Rettenmund added a two-run shot later in the inning. Andy Etchebarren also homered for the Orioles and Jim Palmer fired a four-hitter for his 14th victory.

Lolich pitched a six-hitter and the Tigers broke a tie in the eighth inning with Bill Freehan's triple the big blow to beat Milwaukee.

The victory was the Tigers' 13th in the last 17 games and left Lolich with a 19-8 record. The Tiger left-hander has never won 20 games.

Jim Northrup singled and rode home on Freehan's triple to break the 2-2 tie in the eighth.

Mike Kekich limited California to four hits in 11 innings and Bobby Murcer's two-out, two-strike single drove in New York's winning run in the second game of the doubleheader.

Gene Michael, batting for Kekich, had doubled and came around to score on an infield out and Murcer's hit for the deciding run.

In the opener, Roy White ripped two singles and a double and Fritz Peterson won his 12th game. Peterson allowed nine hits and had the leadoff man on base in seven of the nine innings but kept the Angels off the scoreboard.

Bert Campaneris ripped three singles, driving in two runs and scoring two as Oakland whacked Boston, completing a sweep of their series and tumbling the Red Sox to third place in the interesting East.

Tommy Davis drove in three runs and Dave Duncan homered for the A's, who lead the West division by a fat 14 games.

Ted Uhlaender cracked three straight hits and rookie Kurt Bevacqua tagged his first major league homer, leading Cleveland past Chicago.

Mike Paul and Alan Foster combined for the six-hitter as the Indians beat Wilbur Wood, 14-3.

Kansas City used the six-hit pitching of Ken Wright to trim

Dummit to Guide Rams Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Quarterback Dennis Dummit was passed over by all the National Football League teams during the draft, but he'll guide the Los Angeles Rams against the Cleveland Browns Friday under the watchful eye of his former college coach.

Tommy Prothro, Dummit's coach at UCLA and now field boss of the Rams, probably will let the 6-foot-0, 180-pound rookie call the signals in the second half, but is quick to add that Roman Gabriel remains the club's No. 1 quarterback.

Dummit sparkplugged the UCLA offense his last two years and Prothro was influential in the Rams signing the quarterback as a free agent.

Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich plans to use sophomore Mike Phipps at quarterback. Phipps spearheaded three long scoring drives last Sunday as the Browns bowed to San Francisco 38-24.

Meanwhile, Frank Tarkenton, star quarterback of the New York Giants, reached an agreement with the team. The scrambling signal caller's signing of a one-year pact ended the four-day-old dispute that started when he walked out on the Giants in Houston.

Wellington Mara, club president, said Tarkenton could face disciplinary action "as Coach Alex Webster sees fit."

Tarkenton said he was "very happy with the signing. I'm sorry for what I did on Sunday. I admit it was a hasty move."

In Friday's other exhibition clash, the Miami Dolphins host the San Francisco 49ers in a nationally televised game.

Still smarting from last week's 27-10 setback by Cincinnati Dolphins Coach Don Shula plans to spice Miami's ground attack with Jim Klick and Larry Csonka.

The two running backs reported late to training camp because of a contract dispute and saw only one quarter of action each against the Bengals. The lethargic Miami rushing attack netted only 24 yards in the game.

Nine exhibition games are slated for Saturday—Chicago at Baltimore, Cincinnati at Detroit, Houston at St. Louis, Atlanta at Kansas City, Pittsburgh at Green Bay, New Orleans at Dallas, Washington at Denver, New York Jets at Oakland and Minnesota at San Diego.

Determined not to have repeat of last Saturday's fiasco when rookie center Danny Ryczek high-snapped the ball over punter Mike Bragg's head against San Diego, Washington Redskins Coach George Allen

Washington in the first game of their doubleheader with Tom Burgmeier coming out of the bullpen for the final out. Cookie Rojas drove in the Royals first run with a single and then tripled and scored the second one.

It was the second straight shutout against Washington and the Senators' scoreless string stretched to 24 innings before rookie pitcher Pete Broberg walked leading off the third inning of the nightcap and came around to score.

Washington got two runs in the inning with Lenny Randle, Jeff Burroughs and Dick Billings bunting singles behind Broberg's walk. Broberg and two relievers combined for the six-innings.

Dodgers Bow to Giants

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The San Francisco Giants, who have had a hard time beating anyone recently, took a day off and let the Los Angeles Dodgers beat themselves for a change.

It was a lift for their spirits, to say nothing of their lead in the National League West.

While the Giants didn't play, they improved their lead to four games over Los Angeles when the Dodgers turned a 3-1, 13-inning loss to Philadelphia Thursday night.

The Los Angeles' loss was good news to San Francisco, which had lost eight of 10 games and wasted most of a 10-game lead to the hot Dodgers.

Only three other games were played in the National League Thursday night as the Atlanta Braves crushed the Houston Astros 10-5, the St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and the San Diego Padres turned back the New York Mets 3-0.

In the American League, Baltimore smashed Minnesota 8-2; Cleveland clouted Chicago 6-2; Detroit trimmed Milwaukee 4-3; New York took a two-night doubleheader from California, 3-0 and 2-1, Oakland stopped Boston 9-2 and Kansas City beat Washington 2-0 in the first game of a twin bill before dropping the nightcap, 2-1.

Despite Thursday night's loss, Los Angeles shortstop Maury Wills feels the Dodgers will eventually catch the skidding Giants.

The Dodgers didn't look like winners against the Phillies, though. They had a 1-0 lead in the eighth when second baseman Steve Garvey's error opened the door for the tying run.

Then they wasted scoring opportunities in the extra innings before Philadelphia's Don Money put it away with a two-run double in the 13th.

Rookie Earl Williams unleashed two homers in a four-hit night and knocked in four runs as Atlanta buried Houston under a 16-hit offense.

Williams had singled his first two times at bat before blasting a two-run homer in the fourth and a solo shot in the fifth, his 20th and 21st circuit clouts of the year. Williams also had a run-scoring single in the second inning to help Ron Reed coast to his 12th victory in 20 decisions.

St. Louis took advantage of shortstop Gene Alley's error to score three unearned runs in the third inning and made them stand up behind Steve Carlton's pitching.

Alley booted Dal Maxvill's leadoff bouncer and Carlton singled up the middle. Ted Kubiak forced Carlton at second, but Ted Sizemore doubled for one run, another scored on Matty Alou's bouncer and Joe Torre knocked in the winning run with a bloop single.

Pittsburgh scored two runs in the first inning but Carlton slammed the door the rest of the way to notch his 16th victory in 22 decisions.

Roberto Clemente delivered a two-run double before there were any outs, but then Carlton got out of hot water when he struck out Manny Sanguillen. Clemente was out trying to steal third and Richie Hebner also went down on strikes.

Steve Arlin pitched a six-hitter and Ollie Brown ripped a two-run single as San Diego shut out New York for the second night in a row.

The Padres capitalized on four walks, an error and Brown's key hit to send New York's starter Nolan Ryan to the showers with a three-run first. Arlin assumed control of the game after that.

persuaded George Burman to come out of retirement.

Burman centered for the Los Angeles Rams and also saw duty as an offensive guard and tackle.

Sunday's preseason game pits the New York Giants against the New England Patriots. The slate of 13 weekend games ends Monday with Buffalo at Philadelphia.

Norm Sneed, who has called signals for losers during most of his 10 NFL years, will start with the winning Vikings against San Diego. Minnesota has compiled 12-2 records for each of the past two seasons.

Schlee Has Lead in Mass. Classic

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — John Schlee, winless in five years on the pro golf tour, nursed a slim lead in a bunched back while Ken "Hawk" Harrelson was the "peoples choice" today entering the second round of the $165,000 Massachusetts Classic.

Schlee, a 32-year-old one-time Memphis State star, fashioned a brilliant six-under-par 34-32—66 without fanfare while Harrelson drew the cheers while carding a 73 Thursday in the first round of the 72-hole tournament at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

A resident of Dallas and tutored by Ben Hogan, Schlee had seven birdies and a lone bogey in launching a bid for his first tour victory. The PGA Rookie of the Year in 1966, his best showing was a second place finish in the St. Paul Open that season.

Although he needed just 30 putts in touring the 7,212-yard, sun-baked, wind-swept course, Schlee credited improvement in his driving, thanks to Hogan, for his showing.

Schlee who earned nearly $35,000 this year, moved into a one-stroke lead over Tom Weiskopf, the Kemper Open champion who had a 34-33—67 in the morning before the rain soaked layout dried under a hot sun.

The pair faced plenty of stiff competition entering the second round with the starting field of 150 due to be cut to the low 70 and ties at the halfway mark.

DeWitt Weaver was alone with 68, but Bobby Mitchell, Lou Graham, Joel Goldstrand, Rod Funseth, Bert Weaver and Ray Floyd were just another stroke back at 69. Over-all, 58 players had par or better in the opening round.

In the absence of Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, Harrelson was the darling of the fans, many of whom got to like him as he helped the Boston Red Sox to the American League pennant in 1967.

Traded by the Red Sox to Cleveland in 1969, the colorful Hawk quit his $75,000-a-year baseball job with the Indians recently to try his luck in pro golf. He earned $210 in Akron last weekend and is playing at Pleasant Valley on a sponsor's exemption.

A noncard playing pro, Harrelson will try to earn his PGA card, and the right to compete on his own starting next month.

Harrelson, playing with Jack and Bob Lewis, attracted a huge gallery. Admittedly, "scared to death," he bogeyed three of the first five holes, but settled down and was two-under par the rest of the way.

Harrelson joked, talked baseball and gave the peace sign throughout the 18 holes. The fans loved it. So did the Hawk. But he realized he needed another good round today to make the 36-hole cut, which will be about 146, or, in Harrelson's case another 73.

Baylor Good for One More Season

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Elgin Baylor, the soul of the Los Angeles Lakers, says he's healthy again for one last season in the National Basketball Association.

"There's no doubt this will be my last year," Baylor said Thursday. He will observe his 37th birthday the day before the Lakers start practice Sept. 17. "This is definitely the last."

The Lakers' captain played in only two games last season because of injuries. He underwent surgery for a torn Achilles' tendon on Dec. 2.

"I'd have retired after last season if I'd played a full season. Then maybe I would not play this year. I want to retire healthy, on my own. I don't want injury to force my retirement."

Baylor's career as a professional, which began in 1958 when the Lakers were in Minneapolis, also has been plagued with knee problems.

Both knees have seen extensive surgery. One is minus a quarter of a kneecap.

Yet the former Seattle University All-American from Washington, D.C., has scored 23,043 points in 837 games for a 12-season average of 28. He's among only a handful of NBA players to score more than 20,000 points in a career.

He's 6 feet 5, 220 pounds, shorter than most NBA forwards. But he's pulled down more than 11,400 rebounds.

Baylor doesn't feel his age will do more than make him pace himself during the long regular season.

"I don't say anything. I just go out and do it. If I'd listened to people, some of the people, I'd have retired years ago."

"There's no substitute for ability. Whether you're 15 or 50, it doesn't matter. I'm not speaking in my behalf, but I'd take ability over youth anytime. Of course, youth and ability together are great."

"I don't intend to play every minute of every game. I don't see that much need for it this year. We have enough talent."

"I just want to stay healthy; that's all I'm concerned about."

Colt After 4th Straight Stake Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
There's horses for courses, an old turf adage has it, but it apparently doesn't matter at what track Chevron Flight runs—he wins.
The 2-year-old Florida-bred colt goes after his fourth straight stakes victory on as many different courses in Saturday's rich Arlington-Washington Futurity at Arlington Park in Chicago.

In his last three starts the son of I'm For More-Flying Fable has won the Christiana at Delaware, the Great American at Aqueduct and the Sapling at Monmouth. That record has made him the favorite in his division of the six-furlong Futurity which has been split because of the big 19-horse field entered Thursday.
Elsewhere the weekend thoroughbred program includes the $50,000 Alabama Stakes for 3-year-old fillies at Saratoga, the $50,000 Kindergarten Stakes for 2-year-olds at Liberty Bell, the $25,000 Philadelphia Turf Handicap at Atlantic City, the $20,000 LaJolla Mile at Del Mar and the $10,000 Gen. John Green Handicap at Rockingham. On Sunday the $10,000 Liliac Stakes is the feature at Rockingham.

Each division of the Arlington-Washington Futurity has a $75,000 guaranteed gross with $45,000 to the winner. Chevron Flight is in the second division with Governor Max, Gentle Smoke, Lying Ed, Bold Who, Danahoney, Florida Boy, Commander T. and Bombolino.
Elmer L. Brown and Full Pocket head the first division which also lists Bold Music, Hold Your Peace, Billy Rogell, Feloniously, Pocochief, Lightning Lark, Hisanative and Gun Tune.

Buffalo Cuts Rick Stevenson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills cut second-year cornerback Rick Stevenson Thursday, negating a trade with the Cleveland Browns.
The Browns would have received an undisclosed choice in an upcoming National Football League draft had Stevenson made the Bills opening-day roster.

PRO CHARTS

by MURRAY OLDERMAN

National Conference: Eastern Division WASHINGTON REDSKINS

PROSPECTUS—George Allen moved his wheeler-dealer act to the Potomac and you can expect results right away. Maybe not a championship; George hasn't demonstrated that kind of staying power yet. But he has the Redskins grooved to pick up where late Vince Lombardi left off two years ago. By multiple trading, George forfeits future; he's a "now" guy. Operated first on Skins' achilles heel—the defense.

Offense
PASSING — Incomparable Sonny Jurgensen still the paragon passer. The pot belly might start to puff up a bit. He's allowed: Sonny (?) is all of 37. Allen got insurance for him by picking up gutsy Bill Kilmer, Sam Wyche, two experienced guys. Rating—A-.

RUNNING—Upgraded last year by emergence of Larry Brown as top all-purpose back in NFL. Besides leading all ground-gainers, amazing Larry is terrific pass grabber. Also found stable running mate in big (215) Charley Harraway. Shored up reserves by picking up old Rams Tommy Mason, Jeff Jordan. And may have rookie whiz in Jess Taylor. Rating—B+.

RECEIVING—Addition of slick Roy Jefferson from Colts gives Skins superb trio. He joins Charley Taylor, coming off a shoulder injury, who ranks with any wide receiver in game and Jerry Smith premier tight end. Boyd Dowler coaxed out of retirement at age 33, is a proven quantity as backup. Other hopeful is draftee Cotton Speyrer. Rating—A.

LINE—Area of greatest danger to skin success hopes. Have fine anchor in center Len Hauss, generally underrated, but quality drops off on both sides. Guard Vin Promuto can't go forever. Allen dredged up guard John Wilbur, tackle Mike Taylor as new-old faces. Rating—B-.

Defense
LINE—It'll be merry dog-fight to see what comes out as top front four. Allen's hip on value of putting pressure on passer. Two ends who can step right in as top caliber rushers are Verlon Biggs (ex-Jets), Ron McDole (ex-Bills).

They're huge and tough and both were all-AFL. Jimmie Jones from Jets is eager pass rusher, too. Inside, besides holdover Bill Brundige, they'll make room for ex-Ram Diron Talbert. Rating—B+.

LINEBACKING—Ready-made unit from Rams in Jack Pardee, Myron Potions, Maxie Baughan—but they're all old, football-wise, and Baughan is physically suspect. So Chris Hanburger, one of Redskins' holdovers, could still hold forth on right side. Also retain Harold McClinton from last year. Rating—C+.

SECONDARY—Last year's secondary wasn't all that bad, and the addition of ex-Ram Richie Petitbone will improve things. Pat Fischer's kind of veteran head who fits Allen mold. Returnees Brig Owens, Rickie Harris are resourceful if not strong. Rating—B.

KICKING—Mike Bragg punting, Curt Knight place-kicking still on tap, with spare receiver Pat Richter also booting possible. Rating—B.

Prediction

Allen's a prime mover. And has Jurgensen. This'll jack Redskins up to second in NFC East.

Taiwan Team Downs U.S.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Cosmetic Surgery Can Help a Lot

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I was in a car accident six months ago and was thrown through the window. I have four long scars that were sewed up on my face and a lot of holes and pits on my forehead from little pieces of glass cutting in. The doctor they took me to released me a couple of months later and I haven't seen a doctor since.

That doctor told me that plastic surgery doesn't make scars go away, it just narrows them a little and takes another year to heal. Would you tell me some facts about this kind of plastic surgery? How does plastic surgery help and how do I go about getting a good plastic surgeon?

The grievance committee of the Playing Card Club was in session to hear complaints against players. The ace of spades, who is President and ex officio head of all committees, recognized his young brother, the ace of clubs.

The ace of clubs cleared his throat and remarked, "I have a very severe complaint against South. Not only did he fail to make proper use of me but he also used that horrible cliché 'aces are made to take kings' as he wasted my talents."

We will leave it to you to decide if the vote of censure passed by the committee was justified.

South plunked that ace of clubs on the king without any thought although he did take time to utter the cliché about 'aces taking kings.' Then he led a club back. East held the trick with the eight and led a trump. South played on but wound up losing four tricks.

South would have made his contract if he had simply played dummy's six of clubs at trick one. If West shifted to a trump South would draw trumps; take his king of hearts; enter dummy with that ace of clubs and discard one loser on the ace of hearts. If West led a second club South would wind up with an overtrick since he would be able to ruff a club and also discard a diamond on the ace of hearts.

♥ CARD Sense ♠

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	5 ♠
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ A K 8 7 ♥ A 2 ♦ K Q 9 ♣ K 6 4 3

What do you do now?

A—Bid six spades. At worst your partner will have a finesse for this contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five spades your partner has jumped to six spades over your five hearts. What do you do now?

PERSONAL FINANCE

By RICHARD PRATT

Those killjoys down at the automobile club have been at it again.

They're the ones that grease up their computer every so often and calculate how much it costs to own an automobile. They've been doing it for some time now, and one thing is sure. Driving isn't getting any cheaper.

It's been two years since they did the last computation, and the cost has risen $102 in those 24 months.

Put that way, the amount doesn't sound too bad. Inflation has inured many of us to the idea that a constant price rise is as natural as gravity and about as hard to reverse.

But that $102 is only the increase. Let's take a look at the cost of auto ownership as a whole, and what it's made of.

For purposes of comparison, the American Automobile Association uses a new Chevrolet Impala as the test case each time. It has an eight-cylinder engine, standard accessories, and an automatic transmission.

AAA assumes that the car will be driven 10,000 miles a year and traded in every three years.

The total tab for 365 days of mobility in 1971 is $1,550.

Chances are that figure rocks you. If you're like most of us, you think of how much gas and oil costs, and how many miles you can get to the gallon. That's all well and good, but it is only the beginning. The AAA spells it all out.

There are variable costs, depending on how much you use the car. Here's their example:

Average per Mile

Gas & Oil 2.96 cents

Maintenance73

Tires56

Total 4.25 cents

That's what it costs to keep the vehicle rolling. But it costs a lot more just to have it standing there, ready to roll when you want it. These are called fixed costs:

Thai Students Forgive and Forget

By DALA MCKINSEY
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—"Try to forgive and forget"—that is the way of the Buddhists," explained Boonsuwan Boonsuwan.

Across the tiny apartment room in the University of Arkansas Medical Center sat his petite fiancée, Phensiri Mongkolkeep, 25, in a wheel chair. Four months earlier the two students from Thailand had been en route across Arkansas from Houston, Texas, to visit friends in Memphis, Tenn. They stopped in a parking lot at Forrest City to rest about 1 a.m. May 11. Ten minutes later two escaped convicts from Mississippi forced their way into Boonsuwan's car.

"We didn't expect them to be robbers, they just came and pointed a gun at my head," Boonsuwan said.

The convicts then forced Boonsuwan to drive to Brinkley, 25 miles away. The Thais were taken to a wooded area and Boonsuwan tied to a tree. Miss Mongkolkeep said she begged the convicts to allow her to stay with Boonsuwan. "They said we both would be killed, if I stayed," she said. "She told me she would escape," Boonsuwan said as he described his struggle to break loose. Miss Mongkolkeep spoke to him in Thai.

Boonsuwan said he could watch the three make their way out of the woods to the highway. "I could see them," he said, "and I saw Phensiri run away." Miss Mongkolkeep said she managed to get free of the grasp of one of the convicts, but he caught her again by the bridge. Just then a car drove into the area and one convict shouted to the other to run. "He said he would, but not before he threw me," she said. Miss Mongkolkeep was then thrown off a bridge. Boonsuwan managed to get free and ran to his fiancée. She was unconscious and he carried her to the road.

An hour and a half later a driver in a pickup truck took them to a nearby hospital. But Miss Mongkolkeep's injuries—a broken arm, leg and hip—required the attention only a bigger hospital could give.

She was taken to the Medical Center, where she has been for four months. Two of those months were spent in a body cast.

To Boonsuwan was given the duty of trying to explain to his fiancée's parents, what had happened.

"It was very hard to explain," she said. "I promised them I would take care of her and not to worry."

They wrote back and told Boonsuwan and their daughter "to forgive and forget." It would be "unless" to do anything else, he said.

Both convicts were captured and given an addition 21 year sentence for kidnaping. Boonsuwan has kept his promise to stay with his fiancée. He has not left her side in four months.

The hospital made special dispensation for him to stay with her until they moved in a two-room apartment in the nurses' dormitory. He slept each night across the foot of her bed with his feet on the air conditioning unit.

"I had nowhere else to stay," he said.

Now he sleeps on a small cot in the living room area of their apartment, which they rent from the hospital. Boonsuwan has been doing all the cooking and the cleaning.

For the first few weeks, Boonsuwan said Miss Mongkolkeep was afraid of everyone who came into her hospital room.

"I thought they (the convicts) would come back," she said.

Boonsuwan said she had nightmares about the incident and woke up screaming almost every night.

Until recently Miss Mongkolkeep said she has been reluctant to discuss the incident. "Everyone in the United States has been so friendly," she said she did not think any one would harm them.

She developed a complete distrust of any stranger, she said, but that has been changed by kindness of the people in Arkansas.

"There are bad people anywhere, it was just our bad fortune," Boonsuwan said. "People here are very nice."

The financial condition of the two worries Boonsuwan.

They had planned to go to Detroit this summer and work, Miss Mongkolkeep said, because they had been told that big industries were hiring students. They needed the money for school next year.

Within a year, Boonsuwan is scheduled to receive his masters' degree from the University of Houston in political science. When he returns to Thailand he hopes to be appointed governor, a position equal to the governor of a state here.

Miss Boonsuwan, who met her fiancée at Louisiana State University, is working toward a master's degree in business.

They now find themselves financially strapped.

Although the doctors have donated their time and a fund has been set up for contributions, they still owe about $1,000 in medical expenses. Plus, Boonsuwan said, the expenses of their own living—the apartment and food—have depleted what money they had.

Boonsuwan has applied for financial aid at his school, but has not received a reply.

The future is not totally black.

At 7 p.m. Aug. 16 Miss Mongkolkeep will walk down the aisle of the First United Methodist Church, with the aid of crutches, and marry Boonsuwan.

They had asked permission of their parents to be married in the United States previously, but had been refused because their parents wanted them to return home for the wedding. Now, their parents see the practicality of Boonsuwan's argument that it would be easier for him to take care of Phensiri if they were married.

"I'm not nervous, just excited," he said at the prospect of being a bridegroom. His fiancée grinned at him from across the room.

Subject to Law

Surely the eagle best represents the ideal of Liberty. But the picture shows him to be under restriction. He has duties to perform, young to rear and a home to protect. Perhaps freedom is linked with responsibility. From Alaska to the Gulf he ranges in freedom as monarch of the sky. Yet, how subject is he to the natural laws of God. You never see birds very high in the sky. Most birds do not risk much of height above the tree tops. When exhausted they need a branch on which to perch. They fly awhile and then earth calls them down. How clearly the eagle speaks to us Americans. We are so free, yet so subject to God, so responsible to Him and ours. May we limit our own freedom, support His church and realize how subject we are to God.

Psalm 91

So They May Hear

HE THAT DWELLETH in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

2. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.

3. Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

4. He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

5. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day;

6. Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

7. A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

8. Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

BECAUSE THOU hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation;

10. There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

11. For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

12. They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.

13. Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under feet.

14. Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name.

15. He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him.

16. With long life will I satisfy him, and shew him my salvation.

Started Fire, Now Forced to Fight Them

LYTLE CREEK, Calif. (AP) — Last year Phillip J. Kelley caused a blaze that ravaged 34,000 acres of watershed worth $16 million and cost $1.25 million to put out.

This summer he's back in the San Bernardino Mountains working to help the blackened lands recover, trying to prevent similar conflagrations while serving a four-month sentence.

A judge ordered the 22-year-old Rialto, Calif., native to spend his jail term with a U.S. Forest Service fire crew.

Every weekday morning, Kelley climbs into the back of a truck with nine other prisoners and rides into the charred mountains 40 miles east of Los Angeles to help clear and restore the land.

"I feel a lot of remorse, to say the least," said the hard-hatted Kelley, a bass guitar player with a rock music group before the fire. "It was a nightmare."

The fire started Sept. 28, a day after Kelley's group finished a recording session in nearby Riverside. Kelley says he had gone to Lytle Creek in the mountains "to check on six marijuana plants I had there."

"I brought along some fireworks I had purchased in Denver when the band was playing there. I started shooting them off. I was carefree, careless. I wasn't thinking how dry it was."

"Suddenly one caught in a bush close to me. It began to flame up. I tried stepping on it. That was a mistake. All it did was spread it out. In seconds it was too late."

As he fled from the fire he met a U.S. Forest Service crew. They questioned him and that night he admitted causing the blaze. As the fire spread during the next 36 hours, Kelley was in jail, feeling "pretty small, helpless."

"I prayed for rain, but the fire kept spreading," he said. During his term, Kelley has "seen what the fire did. It's amazing. It looks like the moon ... completely devastated."

He's also helped extinguish a 400-acre brush fire in nearby Apple Valley.

Kelley, who considers himself lucky to have escaped a state prison term, plans to marry when he's released from jail.

God Is Alive and Well on Rock Scene

By ERNESTINE GUGLIELMO

TURNED ON BY RELIGION—God is alive, well and becoming deeply entrenched in the rock community. There isn't one specific God that everyone is following, but a general spiritual revival is rapidly spreading.

There are the Hare Krishna groups roaming around chanting adoration to their God. Meditation groups are springing up all over the country. Visiting gurus and swamis are everywhere.

Bob Dylan is once again Bob Zimmerman, an overt acceptance of his Jewish background. George Harrison said that "you can attain spiritual realization through music" and he conveyed it musically with "My Sweet Lord," a big seller.

Then there are the Jesus Freaks who are seeking converts. The enormous success of "Jesus Christ, Superstar," "Godspell" and other gospel rock music is a good indication of the popularity of the spiritual.

COMMUNE—Many groups are forming religious communes. One of the larger is located in Warwick, Mass., and has over 200 members. The group, Brotherhood of the Spirit, bans drugs, alcohol, smoking and promiscuity in its quest for "spiritual discovery."

The credo of the Brotherhood is explained by one of its members. "We have been working to attain ourselves with the forces of nature that cause all things to exist and grow. These forces of nature are of one infinite Force which we call Creative Energy—what others would consider to be God. We have found that it is possible for man to attain himself to this Creative Energy and live a consistent, happy and productive life, giving him the peace of mind that he seeks. Man is not the body, but that spirit which dwells inside the body."

FLOW OF CREATIVE ENERGY—A group, Spirit in Flesh, perhaps one of the most widely publicized underground groups on today's rock scene, has grown from this commune. The Spirit says that music transmits Energy.

Michael Metelica, the lead vocalist and founder of the commune, left home a few years ago to live in a tree house with nothing to depend on but nature. Word spread and many followers joined him.

The people who are now living as part of the Brotherhood are as diverse a group as one could put together.

Spirit in Flesh rock group entertains state policeman.

Lawyers, teachers, bank tellers, ex-addicts and wanderers all sit around enraptured by the music. And as the music plays the people jump up ecstatically and dance. You can't help but feel a spirit spreading—something like mass hysteria with a revival meeting atmosphere.

POSITIVE PRINCIPLES—As you talk to these people you get the feeling that they are running away from something in the world, that their lives had been full and as they are away to a commune. Their clatching at religion seems to be an escape, just as alcohol and drugs are an escape from dealing with the problems at hand.

If it is an escape, religion is, at least, physically less destructive than the other two.

But all escapes are temporary, as are most communes. Unlike most communes, the Brotherhood of the Spirit has lasted over three years and is expanding. And they don't think they're escaping. One member said, "Escape? On the contrary. We're dealing with the problem of our peace of mind. We're joined it. Have you?"

Jordan Charges Old Tales About Hoop, Syria in Border Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jordan charged today that the border clash that led Syria to break relations was caused by Syria's failure to keep a tight rein on the Palestinian guerrillas.

A government spokesman, broadcasting over Amman Radio, said the fighting between Jordanian and Syrian forces Thursday was "regrettable but resulted from mounting and increased guerrilla raids across the border this week."

Syria closed its border with Jordan last month to protest King Hussein's successful crackdown on the guerrillas. On Thursday it became the third Arab country to sever relations with Jordan. Libya and Algeria did so earlier this year, and on July 19 Iraq closed its border with Jordan and barred all flights to and from Jordan over Iraqi air space.

The Jordanian spokesman said his government proposed that a joint committee be formed to investigate the border incidents by Syria vetoed the plan.

Syria's official Radio Damascus claimed that the Jordanian tanks and armored cars opened fire Thursday on the Syrian border town of Dar's, but the broadcast said the attack was beaten back with the loss of four Jordanian tanks. The report said a Jordanian armored car ran over a wounded Syrian soldier and killed him.

The Jordanian spokesman said the fighting began when "a force whose identity could not be determined advanced toward Jordanian positions and fired. Our forces repulsed the attack and engaged the attacking tanks and two other positions. There were no casualties."

The last time Syrian and Jordanian forces came face to face because of the guerrillas was during the Jordanian civil war last fall when Syria sent in tanks and planes to aid the embattled guerrillas in the same area as Thursday's clash. That time the Jordanians clobbered the Syrians.

The Jordanian reference to an unidentified force appeared to be a suggestion that units of the 8,000-man Palestinian Liberation Army which has bases in southern Syria, were to blame for the fighting.

On the Arab-Israeli diplomatic front, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt expressed pessimism again over chances of Middle East peace and threatened Israel with "maximum punishment" in any new war.

In another development, Arab guerrillas lobbed a grenade into a crowded market in Gaza City today, killing one Arab and wounding six other persons. Among the injured were two 16-year-old Arab boys and two Israeli civilians.

Wants Opinion on Degree Time

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. Leon Holsted of North Little Rock said Wednesday he would ask the Arkansas Legislative Council to obtain the views of the state's colleges and universities on the possibility of offering a bachelor's degree in three years instead of four years.

Holsted said a shorter period for a degree would help relieve crowded conditions at institutions of higher learning.

At that time, Laird issued a get-tough directive, including authority to remove or transfer civilian officials and military officers "who failed to produce satisfactory results" in dealing with racial discrimination.

Render's trip to the Far East came more than three months later and his report sounded as though many of the problems he had found in Europe still had not been cured by the new Pentagon antidiscrimination orders.

After his visit, there were several black-white incidents in South Korea, including an alleged grenade murder attempt by three black soldiers.

The Pentagon civil-rights chief listed a number of improvements in the Pacific area, including command leadership in establishing human-relations and race-relations councils, emergence of "affirmative and constructive leadership" from black and white enlisted men, and creation of interracial "brotherhood" organizations.

Joint, Milk, Spitting Snakes Are Dispelled

How many of us have heard the old stories about "hoop snakes," "joint snakes," "milk snakes," "spitting snakes," and snakes that will run you down and whip you to death with their tails? All of these snakes are fictitious or non-existent. Possibly these snakes existed in the minds of people who mistakenly thought, because of the snake's actions or appearance, it conceivably was capable of such action and, like all stories, it grew with telling.

James E. Miller, University of Arkansas Extension wildlife specialist, says some of these stories may be dispelled by relating to one of the snakes that was mistakenly thought to be such a monster. The "hoop snake," "horn snake," or "stinging snake" is really the mud snake, Farancia abacura. This shiny black and red or pink snake is commonly found in swamps and lowlands of Arkansas and may reach 72 inches in length. This snake feeds primarily on an eel-like salamander, which is maneuvered into better swallowing positions by being pricked with the snake's sharp spinelike but harmless tail.

When caught, the mud snake will often press his sharp tail against its captor's hand. This behavioral characteristic has earned it the stinging and horn snake trademarks. Its habit of lying in a loose horizontal coil and its spinelike tail have associated it with the fabled hoop snake. This snake is entirely harmless to humans.

The "joint snake" is another fictitious snake, and the species that can be given credit for this is not a snake at all but a lizard. This lizard looks like a snake but is a legless lizard which has movable eyelids and external ear openings. The glass lizard's (genus Ophisaurus) tail is long, about two-thirds the length of the entire body and is very fragile, but a new tail can be grown if it's broken off. The lizard is sometimes referred to as a "horn snake" or "stinging snake," because of the hard pointed tip on the end of the tail. When hit with a stick, stone, or board, the tail will often break into two or more pieces, thus causing people to think they are jointed. The story of re-jointing is a physical impossibility.

The "milk snakes" are existent but only as a common name; the stories about them milking a cow are completely fictitious and were probably conceived as an old wives' tale because of the milky coloration of the skin pattern. There are several species of milk snakes of the genus Lampropeltis, and they feed primarily upon mice, lizards, and other snakes. Although harmless, they will strike and bite rather hard without warning.

The names "spitting snake," "blow viper," "spreading adder," and "hissing adder" are somewhat synonymous in that all of them refer to the hogsnakes, genus Heterodon. These snakes flatten their heads and necks, hiss loudly, and inflate their head and neck section with air when alarmed or disturbed, thereby producing a rather vicious looking snake which in reality is a bluff. These snakes are not poisonous and are completely harmless, feeding primarily on frogs and toads.

These snakes will often play "dead" or "possum" if hit lightly or prodded with a stick. The "whipping snake" story was probably derived from the behavior of this snake when held or pinned down, which is to lash vigorously back and forth with the tail in an effort to shake free.

The coloration and appearance of the tail on many of the whip snakes, genus Masticophis, looks much like a plaited leather whip. These snakes, although non-poisonous, will strike and fight savagely when cornered but will most often try to escape its attacker with a burst of speed, raising its head well above the ground while crawling. These snakes feed primarily on rats, mice, lizards, snakes, frogs, and small birds and are beneficial and harmless unless bothered.

Hopefully, this will dispel some of the old wives' tales and theories about some of the snakes. However, says Miller, unless you are familiar with the characteristics or have a knowledge of which snakes are poisonous, the best thing to do is try to avoid coming in contact with snakes. When you see a snake, do not try to hem it up or aggravate it, as most snakes, even though harmless or non-poisonous, will readily strike or bite to avoid capture.

The appeals court said the contempt appeals were moot because when the person cited for contempt certifies that he will comply with the court there is no appealable issue. All of those cited complied with Harris' order.

Warnock said Thursday he intended to appeal the court's ruling on his contempt charge to the U.S. Supreme Court.

McCarthy Denies Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former senator Eugene J. McCarthy has branded untrue a statement attributed to him in a GOP publication that he referred to Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, as "the latest Polish joke." The Minnesota Democrats made public Thursday a letter to the editor of "Monday," a weekly publication of the Republican National Committee, requesting a retraction be printed.

McCarthy was quoted in last week's issue as saying: "Have you heard the latest Polish joke? It's Ed Muskie."

"I do not think the joke is funny or in any way applicable to Sen. Muskie," McCarthy's letter said.

Of remarks attributed to him about Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., McCarthy said: "I have never called him a stalking horse nor made any statement about the source of his finances."

his chief economic spokesman late in June, Connally told newsmen at the White House:

"He (Nixon) isn't going to institute a wage-price review board. He isn't going to impose mandatory wage and price controls. He isn't going to ask Congress for any tax relief. He isn't going to increase fiscal spending."

Yet on Aug. 4, when 13 Republican senators broke with administration policy and introduced a bill to create a wage-price review board, Connally issued a two-page statement saying the administration welcomed "a full-pledged debate" in Congress on the issue.

Nixon said the slipping competitiveness of U.S. industry, as exemplified by the recent steel wage settlement—and the immediate steel price boost of 8 per cent—was a basic cause of his increased concern over inflation.

Hill-Burton Aid Geared for Today

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marking its 25th year of operation today, the Hill-Burton aid program is being geared for new ways to provide better health facilities for Americans.

With a record of hospital aid and modernization of health facilities in 3,800 communities, the Hill-Burton hospital consultation and construction program also is known for starting continuous statewide hospital-planning agencies, and for attracting doctors to rural areas.

The program, administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, came into being in 1946, when Sens. Lister Hill of Alabama and Harold Burton of Ohio sponsored legislation to improve the nation's health services.

The program required the states to adopt standards of maintenance and operation for health facilities before they could share in the funds.

Since the program was begun, $12.5 billion in health-care facilities have been built or improved, with Hill-Burton funds providing $3.7 billion of the total.

As of April 1971, HEW said, a total of 1,663 projects providing 466,000 beds in voluntary, non-profit and public hospitals and nursing homes had been approved under the program.

Nearly 30 per cent of the grants went to outpatient and other health-care facilities such as public health centers, rehabilitation facilities and state health laboratories.

The original program was for construction of hospitals and public health centers but subsequent amendments allowed inclusion of direct loans to public health facilities, financial assistance to neighborhood hospitals, funds to purchase equipment, and financing of modernization activities.

One of the program's major benefits has been establishment of minimum standards for health facility construction.

Russia Warns Allies About Red China

By STEPHENS BROENING

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union cautioned its Communist allies today to beware of Chinese bearing "ultrarevolutionary slogans." The article in the weekly Novoye Vremya, or New Times, coincided with a report from Hungary that Premier Chou En-lai would visit Romania, Yugoslavia and Albania this fall.

In the fourth major article on China in the Soviet press this week Novoye Vremya said Peking is combining a "flexible approach to other Socialist countries" with a "concentrated effort in the struggle against the Soviet Union."

China's aim, the political affairs weekly said, was to obtain the neutrality of Russia's partners in the "struggle between Marxist-Leninists and the reactionary ideological platform of the great-power hegemony of Peking's policy."

Earlier this week, the Soviet press said there can be no Communist neutrals in the Moscow-Peking conflict. Observers saw this as an attempt to curb the independent foreign policy line of Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu, who has staked out a neutral position in the confrontation.

Communist sources say the Kremlin, concerned that Romania's example may be followed, is determined to bring Ceausescu into line.

The article said Communist parties should not be deceived by Peking's "smokescreen of ultraleftist and ultrarevolutionary slogans" since its main objective is to blacken the name of the Soviet Union, "the bulwark of socialism."

Chou En-lai is scheduled to visit Tirana, Belgrade and Bucharest this fall, the Hungarian government newspaper Magyar Hirlap said today. It issued a sharp warning against a possible "anti-Soviet axis" emerging in the Balkans.

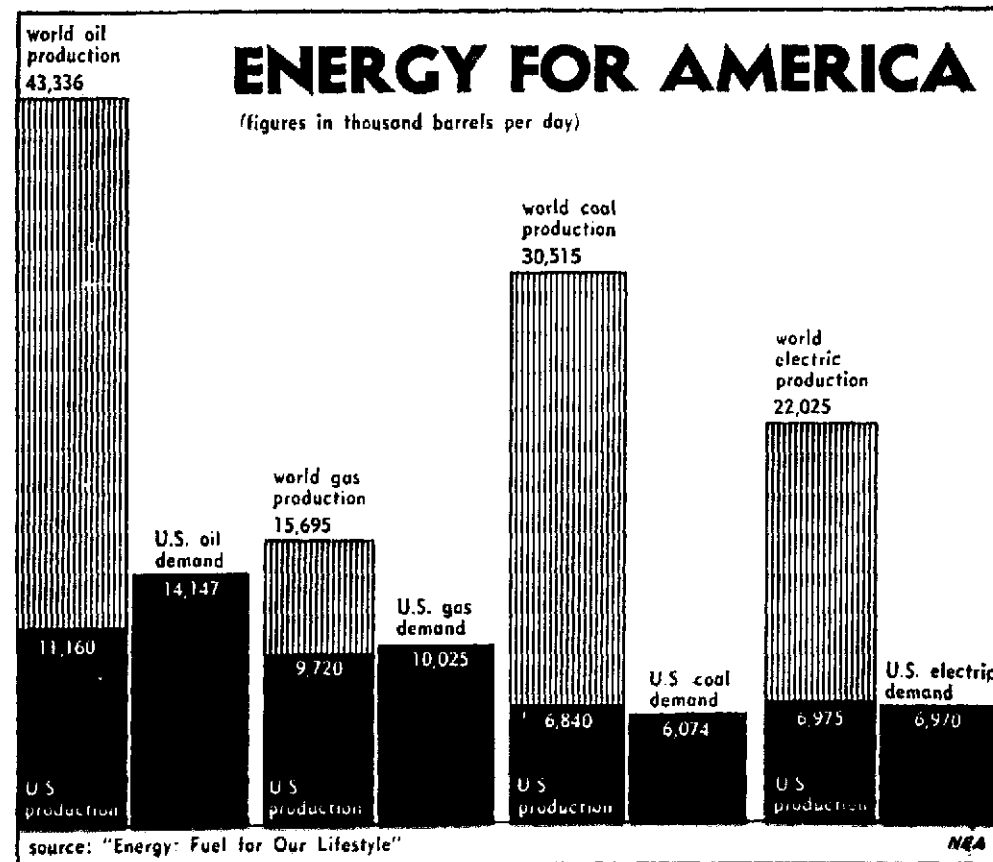

Policemen Deny Charges

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three Little Rock policemen fired Tuesday after two burglary suspects charged they had been beaten when arrested denied in a statement Thursday that they willfully mistreated the burglary suspects.

The three, patrolmen Raymond L. Miller, 26, of North Little Rock, and Dale Webb, 30, and Ronnie E. Phillips, 24, both of Little Rock, said they had retained Gene Worsham as their attorney to appeal their firing by Police Chief Gale Weeks.

The policemen said in a prepared statement that during the excitement of apprehending the burglary suspects knowing that accomplices were still in the building their actions were not as gentle or courteous as they normally would have been under less dangerous circumstances.

While the United States leads the world in over-all energy production, still growing consumption makes the nation a net energy importer. The extent to which the country barely meets needs in two major energy sources and falls short in two others is dramatized in graph from an exhibit, "Energy: Fuel for Our Lifestyle." For easy comparison, gas, coal and electricity figures are in barrel equivalents of cubic feet, ton and kilowatt-hour units. Exhibit is by Owens-Corning Fiberglass.
